U.N.C. Glee Club Visits Campus

The University of North Carolina Glee Club appeared in concert at Barium Springs on Saturday morning, March 8th, at 10:30 o'clock.

The concert was one in a series which the blazer-bedecked Glee Club was presenting during its swing through Western North Carolina on its Annual Spring Tour. Under the direction of Dr. Joel Carter, the 50-man touring organization offered a varied program of choral music and specialty acts. Included were lighter works of a folk, spiritual, or humorous nature such as "Shenandoah," "The Man Without a Country," "Vanka 'n Tanka," "Ain-a That Good News," "A Whale of a Tale," and "Climbin' up de Mountain."

Selection of serious and religious music included "To Thee We Sing," "Turn Back, O Man" by Gustav Holst, Arcadelt's "Ave Maria," and Randall Thompson's "The Last Words of David." Rounding out the program were a number of Sigmund Romberg songs such as "Auf Wiedersehn," "One Kiss," and "Stouthearted Men." The young men also sang the Glee Club's newly-adopted "sweetheart song," a specially-styled setting of "Dixie," and, of course, the UNC Alma Mater "Hark the Sound" as well as other college songs. Specialty numbers included a calypso group and a male quartet.

The Spring Tour of the UNC Glee Club is the focal point in a semester of musical activities which promises to eclipse last term's record of 18 public performances which included a Fall Tour through Virginia and Maryland and two television appearances.

After the Concert the members of the Glee Club were entertained at lunch in the dining-room by the boys and girls of the Home.

This Junior Choir, The Little Boys' Choir, The Little Girls' Choir and The Chancel Choir are busy getting ready for the Easter Services.

Barium Will Receive Love Gift From Women Of The Synod

The Board of Regents and the boys and girls of the Home were indeed happy to learn that the Women of the Synod of North Carolina would send a Love Gift to Barium to help buy bedroom furniture for two of the cottages which so desperately need new equipment. These two cottages are Rumple Hall and Howard Cottage. The living-room at Rumple Hall has been the special object of some folk in Wilmington, and has been very attractive, but the bedrooms of this building are very bad. The beds are old and sway-backed and the mattresses do not fit; the dressers have no mirrors and will hardly stand up; the drawers won't work and when they do they fall apart; the chairs, if any, are old and dilapidated.

The beginning of this idea arose in the minds of some women who visited the campus and saw the conditions in which these girls were living and thought something ought to be done about it. The administration of the Home is exceedingly grateful that someone has come to the rescue and is now going to make provisions for these two cottages to have comfortable beds and adequate furniture and also add a little color and warmth to the floors and to the walls with the use of rugs and pictures.

It is particularly good to know that this will in no way affect the regular contributions which come to the Home for its annual operation. The Home must have the regular Benevolences and the Thanksgiving Offering if the daily needs are to be met. Now, the Women are going to make it possible, from the gift of their hearts, for the living conditions of the children to be brought up to normal.

Father And Son Banquet Held In Dining-Room

During Scout Week, the Father and Son Banquet was held in the big dining-room on the Barium campus. Four hundred places were made ready and fathers and sons from the Iredell County Scouting Area were present for the occasion. Mr. Stinson and his crew had prepared special pigs for barbecue; Mrs. Neill and her kitchen force had busied themselves to make a delicious supper ready; Mrs. Pope and her dining-room girls had the dining-room all fixed and attractively arranged for the occasion, and everyone declared it to be a grand success. It was a grand opportunity for Barium to render service to the community, for whenever the facilities of the Home can render a service to the community or to the Church, the people here are ready to do their job.

Of course, this meant that the children had their supper in the cottages with their houseparents and that the dining-room girls stayed on for extra and longer work. They did not mind this as they were thrilled to see the Eagle Scouts and the other Scouts in uniforms and set their pretty heads in a tilting manner

Stinson Reports On Farm Activities

Mr. Floyd F. Stinson, manager of the farm at Barium Springs, reports that he and his crews are awfully busy in these days since the exceedingly cold weather. There are one hundred and fifty acres of small grain which have had to be cared for. Eighty acres of corn land has been broken up and will have to be made ready for the planting of corn. The garden crew has prepared twenty acres for special truck farming and are now busy with the plant beds and their early planting. Onions, radishes, peas, cabbage and other early vegetables have been planted and others will be planted in the immediate future. Terraces have been repaired where the winter damage has affected them; fences around the pastures have had to be mended, and some frozen water troughs have had to be renewed. The lambs had to be cared for and the sheep and hogs have been taken care of during the cold weather.

Ten Thousand Pine seedlings have been set out in the reforestation and one thousand young Cedars have been planted. These Cedars were set out in order that the Christmas trees for the Home may be grown on the place. Top dressing for the grain and for the pasture and alfalfa has already been put out and the dairy barns and livestock barns have been cleaned out and the fertilizer has been put on the farm. All of this activity in the early spring bids for a busy summer to cultivate and harvest the gardens and crops which have been planted.

All in all, Mr. Stinson reports that the six hundred acres now in cultivation of the eleven hundred acres owned by the Home is in good shape and that he anticipates a good season and a good yield from his crops and gardens in the summer of 1958.

UNDER THE STEEPLE

The Reverend John B. Evans is serving the church as visiting minister on two Sundays of the month. During February, the Reverend Robert Turner, Regional Director for the Synod of North Carolina, was the guest minister on the other two Sundays. Alternating in March with Mr. Evans, will be the Reverend Thomas F. Clark, Professor of Bible at Davidson College, and the Reverend John Carriker of the Eastminster Presbyterian Church in Charlotte.

The Men of the Church in their regular monthly session declared Messrs. Nance and Steele to be gracious hosts as they enjoyed a country ham supper. Mr. S. A. Grier, who has been spending the winter in Florida, spoke to the men of the group after the supper meeting.

The Senior High Fellowship, with Miss Rebekah Carpenter as Adult Adviser, and the Pioneer Fellowship, with Miss Winfred Ferguson as Adult Adviser, continue their regular sessions and programs of Youth Work.

The Nominating Committee has made no report to the congregation, but it is understood that they have been quite busily engaged in trying to secure a minister for Little Joe's Presbyterian Church.

Special services for the Easter Season have been planned. Wednesday preceding Easter will be given over to special consideration of the life of our Lord during Passion Week. Elders A. M. and R. G. Calhoun have been appointed by the session to arrange for a service of worship with scripture and music, using the choirs of the church and school. Easter Sunday morning will bring the congregation together for worship in a Communion Service.

New Pole Barn Now In Use

The increase in the dairy herd and the additions to the beef herd have made it necessary to erect a new lounging barn for the dairy cows. A sixty by one hundred foot Pole Barn was designed and constructed alongside of the present Milking Barn. One-third of the area in the new barn will be used for the storage of hay; and, as this is fed out to the cattle, the moveable feed bins will push back and allow more lounging room in the barn.

Leaders from State College, together with the County Agents, assisted in the planning of this barn and have been down to look it over since it has been finished. They are quite satisfied with the manner in which it is built and feel that it will render excellent service to the Home. Incidentally, it might be said that this is the only lounging barn in Iredell County, and probably in North Carolina, which is equipped with a bath tub. That may sound a bit strange, but it is quite explicable when it is known that the old bath tub is a temporary arrangement for a watering trough.

as they walked in and out among the boys. The boys thought the Barium girls were mighty attractive and the Barium girls felt it would be a grand thing to have the group of uniformed young gentlemen to come to the campus more often.

AN OLD STORY RETOLD

Due to the frequent requests for the story of Little Joe's Church, it is being printed here again for the people who love the story.

The pathetic life of our Little Joe Gilliland has been told in OUR FATHERLESS ONES in February, 1904, when he was taken from us by "The Reaper, Death," but the story of such a life is ever new, and so near to the hearts of our people, it will bear telling again.

On September 1, 1901, two children were brought to our home, Janie Gilliland, aged 7 years, and Little Joe, her brother, then about six years of age.

Little Joe was a frail boy with a warm heart, a very tender way of saying and doing things, and his whole personality was so unique, he would have attracted attention anywhere, and at Barium he was beloved of all the household, from Dr. Boyd down to the smallest Synod's Cottage boys no bigger than himself. Joe was naturally shrinking and timid, was no athlete, but he was a favorite on the campus, and enjoyed the innocent play that seems most attractive to small boys. His loving heart just loved everybody about him.

Little Joe had a very keen perception of "goodness and good things" and "badness and bad things."

The story is told of him that on one occasion one of the "big sisters" was teaching him his Catechism and told him to say in answer to a question: "The Devil tempted Eve and she gave the fruit to Adam."

Joe refused to say it, and when asked why, he answered "because it is a bad word." Joe compromised on calling the arch enemy, Satan, instead of Devil. We wish we could have talked with Little Joe about the stars, for as he would go back to Synod's Cottage after supper, he loved to look up into the heavens and talk about the stars. He never could quite understand "Where the stars went in the daytime," for he could not take in the idea that the sun was brighter than all the stars, and if he could have gone down into a deep well, and looked up out of the darkness, he could find some of those very stars in the heavens that had not gone away.

One night as he gazed upward he said, with tender pathos in his voice, "When us gets dead, us'll go up there," and Little Joe has already soared through the star depths, into the "Land of pure delight." Music was Little Joe's delight, and he had a most sensitive ear to all good harmony. Not only would he catch the bright popular airs in our Sunday School books, but even music that bordered on the classic, appealed to him, and he was not long in learning tunes that were difficult. On one occasion the piano in Rumple Hall was tuned just before Christmas, and the first time Joe heard it after the tuning, he listened most intently for a while, and then said: "Is that the same piano?" When told something had been done to it, his quick ear caught the improvement, and he was looking into "the why" of it.

Little Joe's favorite song was, "When the Roll Is Called up Yonder," and how he delighted to sing it. We are quite sure he sings it now in Heaven having answered the call in his own dear little voice, that was so ready here to testify his love for Jesus.

Little Joe had one dominant idea which he often expressed in his own words, "When I get a big man I'm going to build a church with a porch to it." Many times did he affirm this, but it was through his early death that the fondest hope his dear little heart ever cherished in life was fulfilled.

On Sunday morning, February 1, 1904, our dear Little Joe, most unexpectedly to most of us, was called "to go among the stars," and find his place in the Heavenly Choir. He had not been well, but on Saturday seemed better, and sat up all day. When the other boys got up on Sunday, he begged to get up too, but it was thought best for him to lie quiet; yet he was told a place would be fixed for him. A big brother stood ready to carry him down. He noticed that Joe closed his eyes and seemed to be going to sleep. He took him up and carried him down, but it was our dear little boy's last sleep. In less than three minutes, his little heart was still and his breathing hushed. A great sorrow settled down upon our home, for we had parted with one who had filled a large place in every heart.

In Little Joe's purse was found 45 cents he had saved up toward the building of a church. Dr. Boyd told so pathetically the story of his life, that money began to flow in, in large and small streams, and in 1906 the building of "Little Joe's Church" was begun. In 1907 the church was completed and now stands a worthy monument to the memory of this remarkable child.

While in the Synod's Minutes it is put down as "Barium Springs Church"; it is best known throughout the Synod as "Little Joe's Church," and will doubtless be thus known for all time.

In our cemetery, Little Joe was the first to find a resting place, although we had previously lost two children who were buried elsewhere.

In this year of 1958 Little Joe's Presbyterian Church is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary, and it is rejoicing in the use of the new sanctuary which has been erected. While the first building centered around the life story of Little Joe, the second building could very well center around the life story of one known affectionately as "Big Joe". It was through the thinking, planning and dreaming of Dr. Joseph B. Johnston, superintendent of the Home from 1922 through 1949, that the plans were laid and the money secured through the Memorial gifts for the erection of a new sanctuary. This new sanctuary stands as a memorial to thirteen thousand, two hundred and forty-five people who have been remembered by persons from all over the United States. Standing as a memorial to them, it continues to carry the name of Little Joe's Presbyterian Church which has been associated with the worship of this community for over fifty years. As the cross high on the steeple is caught in the western sun, its shadow falls near the resting place of both Big Joe and Little Joe whose lives have been intertwined with the sanctuaries and worship of Barium Springs.

Carol Harwell Goes To Johns Hopkins

For some time Carol Harwell, a member of the high school had been suffering from loss of vision. Dr. Reagan Stewart of Statesville found it necessary to send her to the Charlotte Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Hospital. This examination resulted in the recommendation that Carol be sent to Johns Hopkins in Baltimore for a special study. Miss Rebekah Carpenter, the caseworker, and Carol have just returned from the trip to Baltimore. While there, Carol was given an extensive and thorough examination in an effort to discover her difficulties. The reports are not in from the doctors in the hospital, but it is hoped that this will result in discovering the trouble and offer some remedy for the situation.

COTTAGE NEWS

South Cottage

Hello Everyone —

We are back again with the news. We are about to wind up basketball for the year. We played our best home game on Friday, February 21st. Our girls lost 38-39—they played extra good and it was a very close and thrilling game. Our boys won 44-38, and this was a "nip and tuck" game all the way through. We finally pulled ahead six points at the last which proved to be the winning score.

We are all looking forward to spring. We are anxious to get back to the swimming pool and to take nice spring walks. Some of us will get the spring fever which keeps repeating itself year by year.

We had a big snow here last week. All of us were digging down in our lockers to find last year's mittens and tobogganss. The snow was about six inches deep and at times the temperature was 7 degrees below zero. We had a wonderful time sledding in the snow. Although we did take a few spills, it was still fun. This is about all the news for now. See you next month.

Lottie Walker Cottage

Hi Friends —

We had a big snow Saturday, and you should have seen the snowman in our backyard, although he was not as big as the fifteen foot one which the Quad boys built, still we were very proud of it.

Due to the heavy snow, the Troutman School was closed all week until Friday morning, so Janet, Shelby, Virginia Dare and Linda Lou took it easy while the little ones went to school here on the campus.

We have had our physical examinations, and everyone seems to be in good health.

We would like to congratulate our Junior Basketball Team for winning their first two games, and we are proud to have two of our girls, Shirley Faulk and Margaret Ramsey, on the team.

Good-bye for now —
The Lottie Walker Girls
